How we can make a difference

The members of the NWTRWC understand the value of collaboration and we continue to seek partnerships that bring us value and support. We believe that to continue to grow and be relevant to our members, we must remain in the forefront of women's issues within our union and community. We must appeal to a broad base of women of all ages.

We have developed a network of contacts to keep us up to date with what is happening across the region and the country. We partner and keep in touch with our sisters in other unions, including the Canadian Labour Congress.

The NWTRWC is a vibrant and growing committee. We thrive on the diversity, experience and friendships that surround our table.
